Let's Start!

Pronunciation Spot: Spaghetti is not an Italian dish? I don't believe you!

Learning Outcome

Accurately use information about travel and vacations in social situations.

Ask your partner:

- What are the traditional meals or desserts of your country?
- Which one is your favorite?

Can Do Statements

- I can say and use the oy sound.
- I can talk about food and customs.
- I can identify key information in a short audio.

Let's Explore!

Listen to two people have a conversation over dinner in a busy Italian restaurant.

* "Over" can mean "while you are doing something else".

Instructions: Read the text aloud.

- Regan: Mmmm ... I love Italian food. Spaghetti is my favorite. It was a great choice.
- Jane: I enjoyed it too, and the garlic bread. Did you know that the first spaghetti came from China?
- Regan: Really? You mean it doesn't have Italian origins?
- Jane: No. Marco Polo brought it. He was a famous Italian explorer of the 13th century.
- Regan: That's interesting.
- Jane: He went all the way to China, and while he was there he tried Chinese spaghetti. He liked it so much that he brought it back with him to Italy.
- Regan: Marco Polo was smart. I like to learn about the past.
- Jane: I'm glad he liked spaghetti.
- Regan: Would you like some dessert? Isn't having apple pie an American tradition?
- Jane: Not tonight. I am going to ask for the bill. It's so noisy in here. I am getting a headache.
- Regan: Are you working tomorrow?
- Jane: Yes, but I finish at 3 p.m. Want to join me for a walk along the harbor tomorrow afternoon?
- Regan: Sounds good. I am going to be down that way anyway.

Let's Practice!

Can you guess which sound you are practicing?

Say this tongue twister aloud: Joy and the boys made noise as they hoisted and joined the joists for the house.

Learning Points

Culture, Customs and Traditions

Countries and regions around the world have their own beliefs, ways of life and art. These are all nouns you can use to talk about culture.

Traditions are ways of thinking, behaving, or doing something that has been used by the people in a group, family, or society, for a long time. Cultural traditions, like eating turkey at Thanksgiving or an ancient/old tradition, like not eating fish on Friday.

Customs are actions or ways of acting among the people in a particular group or place. There can be tribal, local, family or ancient customs. There are social customs, like taking off your hat inside and English/Italian customs, like having afternoon tea.

Examples:

- Isn't having apple pie an American tradition?
- I love Italian food. Spaghetti is my favorite. It was a great choice.
