

Instructor: Date:

Learner: Regional Branch:

Program: Center:

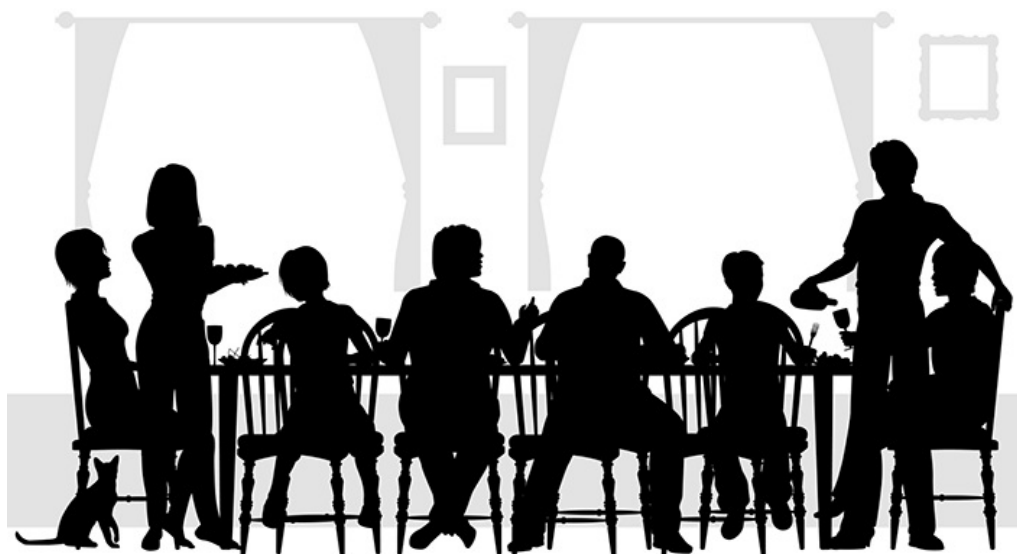

CONTENT

- Let's Start! • Let's Explore! • Let's Practice! • Extension Activity • Target Words • Learning Points

Let's Start!

Family traditions are fun!

Learning Outcome

Accurately use information about travel and vacations in social situations.

Ask your partner:

- What special traditions does your family have?
- What foods do you prepare?

Can Do Statements

- I can talk about food and customs.
- I can express a goal or a purpose.
- I can express general quantities.

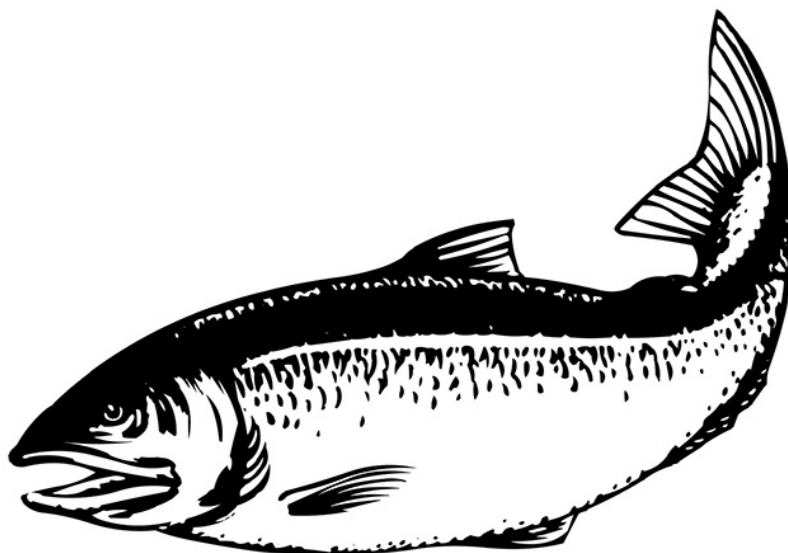

Let's Explore!

Logan talks about his family tradition ... casserole!

* A "tradition" is something you do in the same way on a regular basis, like every year.

Instructions: Read the text aloud.

- Vanessa: So, how did your original recipe for satay chicken sticks go last night?
Logan: It was great! My girlfriend wants to visit Thailand to try the real thing. How was the seafood macaroni and cheese?
Vanessa: Actually, I changed recipes. I prepared a seafood casserole instead. I bought the salmon from a local fisherman to make sure it was very fresh. I cooked it with butter and garlic. Then I started adding many things, like lobster, celery and broccoli.
Logan : So your meal was a real feast!
Vanessa: Yes, you could say that! I made enough food for the entire neighborhood!
Logan: In my family, we often make casseroles to celebrate special occasions. Each member of the family has their favorite casserole.
Vanessa: That's a nice family tradition.

Let's Practice!

Vanessa is in cooking school ... to learn how to cook Italian food.

Instructions: Draw a line from the first part of the statement on the left to the second part on the right.

- | | |
|---|------------------------------------|
| 1. My girlfriend wants to visit Thailand | a. to try something different. |
| 2. I bought the salmon from a local fisherman | b. to try new kinds of coffee. |
| 3. We often make casseroles | c. to try the real thing. |
| 4. I like going to cafes | d. to make sure it was fresh. |
| 5. I want to go to a new restaurant | e. to celebrate special occasions. |

Let's Practice!

Let's try some new foods.

Instructions: Read the clues on the left. Check off the correct box in the table.

	Count Noun Singular	Count Noun Plural	Non-Count Noun
We often make casseroles.
I love satay chicken sticks.
Do you like seafood?
I want to try lobster.
I have a good recipe for you.
I started adding many things.

Extension Activity

Compare the cooking traditions in 4 different countries.

Instructions: Complete the following steps. Fill in the Self-Assessment.

- Talk to friends or classmates from different countries, or search for information on the Internet.
- Find information about 4 different cooking traditions in 4 different countries. What is the special occasion? What do people eat? How do they prepare food?
- Write sentences about the traditions. You can start with "In Thailand ..."
- Practice reading the sentences.
- Share the information with a partner or the class.

Self-Assessment

Yes

No

I ask and research about cooking traditions in different countries.

☐ ☐

I write complete statements about cooking.

☐ ☐

I share the information with a partner.

☐ ☐

Target Words

- to prepare (verb): to make food
e.g. I prepared seafood pasta last night.
- entire (adjective): whole; complete
e.g. I made enough food for the entire neighborhood!
- instead (adverb): in the place of e.g. I prepared a seafood casserole instead.
- seafood (noun): a variety of species that live in the ocean, like lobster e.g. I love seafood macaroni and cheese.
- lobster (noun): a large, red type of seafood
e.g. Lobster is my favorite type of seafood.
- feast (noun): a very large meal
e.g. Your meal was a real feast!
- casserole (noun): a meal with meat and vegetables cooked together
e.g. I made a seafood casserole last night.
- butter (noun): a product made from milk, often used in cooking
e.g. I love cooking with butter.
- celery (noun): a long, thin light green vegetable
e.g. Then, I added celery to the casserole.

Learning Points

Count and Non-Count Nouns

Count nouns are things we can count.

- They can be singular or plural (a casserole, two casseroles).
- You can use some and any with count nouns.

Example: some recipes

- You can also use a few and many.

Example: a few teaspoons

- When a count noun is singular, we must use a word like a/the/my/this.

Example: I am making a casserole.

- When a countable noun is plural, we can use it alone.

Example: I love casseroles.

Non-count nouns are things that we cannot divide into separate things. They are materials, substances or amounts.

- They are usually considered singular. You never put an s at the end.

Example: I added lobster and salmon to the pasta.

- You can use some and any with non-count nouns.

Example: some butter

- We can use a little and much with non-count nouns.

Example: a little garlic

