

Instructor: Date:

Learner: Regional Branch:

Program: Center:

CONTENT

- Let's Start! • Let's Explore! • Let's Practice! • Extension Activity • Target Words • Learning Points

Let's Start!

Writing Spot: Let me tell you a story ...

Learning Outcome

Accurately use information about travel and vacations in social situations.

Can Do Statements

- I can write about traditions.
- I can write a short narrative.

Ask a partner:

- What kind of short stories do you like reading ?
- What makes a good short story?

Let's Explore!

How did spaghetti come to Italy? Listen to the conversation to find out.

Instructions: Read the text aloud.

How Spaghetti Came to Italy

Marco Polo set off to sail the seas and explore the world in the thirteenth century. He was the first European to ever reach China. There, he saw many beautiful sights. The most beautiful was a lovely Chinese maiden. He knew he had to spend as much time as possible with her. He immediately fell in love with the woman, and she felt the same way.

One hot, sunny afternoon, Marco was sitting with his love while she was baking bread. During this time, they stared at each other for so long that the maiden didn't realize the dough was overflowing and dripping over the side of the bowl. The hot sun quickly dried up the dough into long, hard strings.

Marco didn't want his love to be embarrassed, so he took the strings back to the ship, where the cook boiled them and served them to the crew for supper. The strings were such a hit that when the ship returned to Italy, the sailors told everyone that they must try them.

After that, cooks on other ships decided to serve the strings as well. It soon became one of Italy's favorite foods.

Let's Practice!

Can you remember the short story?

Instructions: Read the sentences. Fill in the blank with the missing word. Use: must, was, had to, became, decided, saw.

1. He _____ the first European to ever reach China.
2. The sailors told everyone that they _____ try them.
3. He knew he _____ spend as much time as possible with her.
4. There, he _____ many beautiful sights. The most beautiful was a lovely Chinese maiden.
5. It soon _____ one of Italy's favorite foods.
6. After that, cooks on other ships _____ to serve the strings as well.

Let's Practice!

How do you write a short narrative? What do you need to include?

Instructions: Draw a line from the word on the left to the definition on the right.

- | | |
|---------------|--|
| 1. Narrator | a. a series of events that happen in the story |
| 2. Setting | b. the end of the plot, how the story finishes |
| 3. Characters | c. the people or animals in a story |
| 4. Plot | d. the "voice" telling the story to a reader |
| 5. Solution | e. specific time and place the story is set |

Extension Activity

Let's write a story.

Instructions: Complete the following steps. Fill in the Self-Assessment.

- Write a short narrative (3 paragraphs) taking into account the items mentioned in the previous activity.
- Add adverbs of sequence and time like first, next and after.
- Use adjectives to make your story more interesting.
- Read your story aloud to a friend or family member.

Self-Assessment

Yes

No

I write a short narrative in three paragraphs.

☐ ☐

I express the order of events.

☐ ☐

I use descriptive words to make the story interesting.

☐ ☐

Target Words

- to set off (verb): to begin traveling in a particular direction
e.g. Marco Polo set off to sail the seas.
- century (noun): a period of 100 years
e.g. He explored the world in the thirteenth century.
- maiden (noun): a young girl or woman who is not married
e.g. He saw a lovely Chinese maiden.
- to stare (verb): to look at someone or something for a long time
e.g. They stared at each other for hours.
- to overflow (verb): to flow over the edge or top of something e.g. The dough was overflowing the bowl.
- to drip (verb): to fall in drops
e.g. The dough was dripping everywhere.
- to serve (verb): to give food or drink to someone at a meal
e.g. The cooks served the spaghetti to the sailors.

Learning Points

Adverbs in Narratives

You use special words in a specific order to talk about when something happened or will happen. These special words are called adverbs of time and sequence. They help the reader understand when things happen and in what order.

You often use these kinds of adverbs in narratives.

There are two categories of adverbs to talk about time and sequence.

1. Adverbs of time and sequence with two words.

Adverb + Time	Example
by + time	By eight o'clock, the restaurant was closed.
at + time	At around one o'clock, the students left the classroom.
after + time	After four o'clock, the employees go home.
before + time	John's parents arrived before noon.
after + noun	After about fifteen minutes, I went back to the car.
before + noun	Before the show, we went out for a drink.
during + noun	During the play, people were on their phones.

Learning Points

2. Adverbs of time and sequence with one word.

You usually use these one word adverbs at the start of a sentence. They often have a comma after them.

Adverb	Example
First	First, John went into the kitchen.
Second	Second, he opened the fridge door to grab a few items.
Third	Third, he went to the cupboard to get a large mixing bowl.
Then	Then, John found a large spoon on the counter.
Next	Next, he proceeded to mix the ingredients together until the mixture was smooth.
Finally	Finally, he poured the mixture into a frying pan on the stove.
First of all	First of all, John woke up at 7 a.m.
After	After eating his breakfast, he went outside.
After that	After that, he drove to the mall.

